Benoît's Story

Benoît Huot was born with a “club foot”, a deformity of his right foot. His foot was so curved that his big toe touched the heel - like a horseshoe. As a baby, he wore a special cast to correct the shape of his foot. A successful operation helped his right foot move better, but he still had a weaker and smaller right foot and calf. Since he couldn't perform well in most sports, he decided to try swimming to build his confidence and self-esteem. At the age of 10, Benoît started to compete in swimming events. His life took a turn when he was 14, when he won six medals in his first international competition in New Zealand. To reach the highest levels of competition, Benoît's training days start at 6:00 AM and finish at 6:30 PM. He came back from the 2008 Summer Beijing Paralympic Games with four bronze medals. He said, “It was one of the greatest experiences of my life.”

In 2005, Benoît was named the top male Paralympic swimmer by Swimming World Magazine. He is the first Canadian swimmer, able-bodied or with a disability, to earn that title. Benoît also travels across Québec to share his experience with young people to help them achieve their goals.
